Academic Advising

The Memorial Health System academic advising program is designed to help you decide how you want to achieve your career goals by continuing your education. Employees receive information on programs offered through MHS academic partnerships.

Certification Reimbursement

Financial assistance is available to qualified employees pursuing certification in a job-related field. Applications for reimbursement must be submitted and approved prior to scheduling or completing your certification exam. The certification reimbursement program is funded by Memorial Health System foundations. Employees may receive reimbursement for only one certification or recertification at a time.

MHS Education Grants

Financial assistance is available for qualified employees to pursue education in exchange for a work commitment. Education grants are available to those pursuing healthcare careers that are deemed critical to the organization's present or projected staffing needs at an accredited college, university or technical school. Grant applications are reviewed each application cycle by the Workforce Strategies Advisory Council. Employees have the opportunity to apply for education grants three times per year.

Employees interested in applying for an education grant must first complete an academic advising session with the workforce development consultant and review the education assistance presentation online.

Foundation Education Grants

Education assistance opportunities are offered through affiliate foundations to assist qualified employees in continuing their education. While some foundation grants are limited to employees, others are open to non-employees who agree to a work commitment once education is complete.

Tuition Reimbursement

Tuition reimbursement is assistance for qualified employees who complete coursework at an accredited college, university or technical school. This benefit allows employees to improve their job skills and prepare for another role in the health system while in their current position.
